Introduction

The Securities & Exchange Board of India (hereafter referred to as 'SEBI') was established under SEBI Act, 1992 to regulate the securities market in India. The objectives of the Securities & Exchange Board of India are to protect the interest of the investors, and to promote development of and to regulate the development of the securities markets in India. The main functions of Securities and Exchange Board of India include registration, regulation and supervision of intermediaries operating in the securities market, promoting and regulating self regulatory organisations, prohibiting fraudulent and unfair trade practices relating to securities markets, calling from or furnishing to agencies such information as may be considered necessary by it for efficient discharge of functions.

The Israel Securities Authority (hereafter referred to as 'ISA') was established pursuant to the Securities Law, 5728-1968, and its mandate is to protect the interests of the public investing in securities, as stipulated in the Law. Pursuant to this mandate, the functions of ISA, among others, include granting permits to publish prospectuses, regulating and supervising the mutual fund industry, monitoring disclosure, monitoring tender offers, licensing intermediaries, conducting investigation and ensuring fair and orderly trade of securities exchanges operating in Israel.

SEBI and the ISA (hereafter referred to as “the Authorities”),

Considering the increasing internationalization, harmonization and interdependence of securities and financial markets due to the use of modern technology and the need for closer co-operation between exchanges, for mutual assistance, for the strengthening of cross-border co-operation in order to enhance investor protection, to promote the integrity of securities markets and more generally to facilitate performance of the supervisory functions and the effective enforcement of the Laws and Regulations governing the markets;

Considering that such an approach entails the sharing of different types of information given the various duties vested in the Authorities;

Considering that SEBI and the ISA are signatories to the International Organization for Securities Commissions (hereinafter "IOSCO") Multilateral Memorandum of Understanding (hereinafter "the MMOU") the Parties will continue acting in furtherance of their commitments under the MMOU and will be obliged to refrain from acts which would defeat the object and purpose of the MMOU. This bilateral Memorandum of Understanding is not intended to supercede these commitments regarding the MMOU. This bilateral Memorandum of Understanding endeavors to address issues specific to the relationship between the Authorities.

Have thus reached the following understanding:
